

ON THE FENCE

MAKE IT!

How to fake a fun kid's headboard on the cheap: Pick up heavy-duty adhesive Velcro and a vinyl-fence section at a home-improvement store (we found this lattice piece at Lowe's for less than $20). Center fence behind the bed; Velcro it to the wall. If you'd rather use real wood fencing (avoid anything treated with chemicals), sand away splinters and mount with appropriate hardware.

Why We Love...

O.CO

Formerly overstock.com, o.co has more new low-cost, high-style finds (like this 24-inch lamp, $112) on top of its liquidated haul. Still our fave feature: its flat $2.95 shipping fee

GRAPHIC NUMBERS

Adding style to your home is as easy as one, two, three with vintage-feel accents. The latest in the typeset-character trend, these pieces come in neutral colors and subtle textures so they'll work with a slew of looks.

- Jewelry, purses, or towels will hang handsomely on Two's Company's black-on-white glass hooks (top right, $10 each) that count from one to six. Porcelain lidded jars (also from Two's Company) will be shelf standouts (top right, $23 each); pick your favorite figures, from one through four

- Mix this embroidered linen pillow (bottom right, $49) from Arhaus with patterned ones to bring a sofa up to date. Shell buttons on the back multiply its charm

- Blue Ocean Trader's stool (right, $125) sums up extra seating perfectly: petite, movable, and cute enough to leave out. Buy one, or a clearly marked set of four
